True Beauty Begins With You — at The Source

At The Source, we take beauty seriously—beauty for you and beauty for the earth. That is why we are 100% dedicated to using eco-friendly methods, techniques, business practices and products. We are continually striving for ways to renew and rejuvenate our clients, with uncompromised style for an un-compromised planet. Join us at The Source to experience the highest level of beauty and service to help you discover the ultimate you.

Our Commitment

We understand that external beauty is only sustainable through a healthy mind, body and spiritual connection. However, we also know that our lives are full and we are often too busy to nurture ourselves, much less the world we live in. There are many choices available to us today which can be overwhelming. At The Source, we have simplified those choices by committing to bring you the best in hair, skin and body care, on your schedule, all under the convenience of one roof. We have researched and implemented many ways to provide better health options to our guests, staff and to the environment, by reducing pollution, waste and unnecessary chemicals.

Where Style Meets Conservation

We offer the latest in all aspects of industry trends and techniques, keeping you up-to-date and stylish, while emerging you in planet-conscious luxury. We accomplish all of this, while maintaining respect for the world we live in.

Some of the ways we achieve our commitment to the environment are through recycling, repurposing furnishings and decor items, purchasing and using only environmentally-friendly beauty and cleaning products, employing energy-efficient business practices, and conducting business with local vendors whenever possible to help sustain the local economy. We are devoted to researching and exploring additional green practices, techniques, products and methods in every aspect of our daily business.
